

Preliminary Announcement

2011 Summer Bioengineering Conference Nemacolin Woodlands Resort Farmington, Pennsylvania June 22-26, 2011

The Bioengineering Division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineering cordially invites you to attend the 2011 Summer Bioengineering Conference. An outstanding scientific program has been planned, including Plenary Lectures, Symposia, Workshops, and Student Paper Competitions. Both oral and poster sessions will be presented in the spectacular setting of Pennsylvania's Laurel Highlands. The Nemacolin Woodlands Resort is a full-service, luxury resort and spa in the serene Allegheny Mountains. Aside from the many activities and amenities that the resort has to offer, nearby are Frank Lloyd Wright's 'Fallingwater' house, white water rafting (class I, II, III or even class V level), hiking, biking and more.

<http://www.nemacolin.com/>

Further information about the meeting will be available at:

<http://www.asmeconferences.org/SBC2011/index.cfm>

Student Paper Competition: Abstracts are solicited for student paper competitions at the levels of BS, MS, and Doctoral. Students selected for the competition will be able to present their work in sessions highlighting the student competitors – both in poster and podium formats. Cash awards will be made to the top papers at each level in multiple technical areas.

Anticipated Submission Deadline for two-page abstracts: January 21, 2011