ISSUE NO. 1

In this Issue...

Welcome to the first WTC III online newsletter. We hope you will find this a useful communication tool to keep you apprised of the latest information regarding this world class event. We are very excited to be hosting WTC III in Washington, DC USA in 2005 and the planning is well under way. As you will read in more detail throughout this newsletter, we are currently accepting abstracts online, we have formed an International Advisory Board and created a WTC III Community of Practice where potential participants can communicate. We have also collaborated with many international societies that have an interest in the field of tribology.

Our Technical Program Committee consists of the top names in the fields of tribology (see Conference Organizers). Be part of the knowledge exchange—submit your abstract today!

International Advisory Board

The WTC III conference organizers are delighted to welcome the members of the International Advisory Board. These members are internationally recognized leaders in the field of tribology and have all agreed to advise the World Tribology Congress Oversight and Technical Program Committees in matters that will provide a positive experience for the international attendee.

What to do in DC?

Beyond Washington DC's most familiar vistas, the capital city unwinds into a lively urban center. Casual cafes and upscale bistros line the trendy streets of Georgetown, while the downtown district sizzles with a host of new restaurants. Spontaneous Jazz notes tumble out the windows of U Street's nightclubs, while world-class performers take the stage at the highly acclaimed Kennedy Center. Kayakers tackle the Potomac River as it winds past the elegant marble tributes to America's great leaders. To find out more about what Washington DC has to offer, please visit its official tourism site.
