Weather and Altitude Sickness

Denver is located on the high plains at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. This location treats people of Denver to more sunshine each year than Miami or San Diego, and the climate is considered mild, sunny, and semi-arid.

Denver is located 5,280 feet above sea level. Visitors can sometimes experience symptoms of altitude sickness. Altitude illness is caused by the lack of oxygen in our thin mountain air and can affect anyone, regardless of age or physical condition in altitudes above 6,000 feet. Please see Altitude Information for additional information and prevention.
